Energy can encompass,
drown in its fullness.

Its emotion immerses like a sea of open water,
frightful and inspirational simultaneously.

It has movement, a sensation;
as if gravity has reversed its directional force and pulls the body from the center of its being.

It transforms and tugs the soul to respond to its supplication.

It is Kinetic.

Energy calls one to purpose.

It hungers to be realized, released and brought to life.

It needs to be felt and heard b ecause its message is embedded in the cells and is written on the DNA.

It is the fuel to our life force.

Energy can take a multitude of forms and be birthed onto almost any platform.

It can progress, inspire and build.

Through works of art, its smooth strokes can be textured, cool and subdued or animated and colorful.

Its literature can enlighten and illuminate and be prophetic and prolific.

It has a rhythm, a vibration and a melody in its song.

Energy is supernatural and unexpected.

It has depth and understanding, and is symbolic.

It resides in the richness of the human soul.

And its existence is larger than life.
