...The Guide...

Life is an emotional rollercoaster at times..

Sometimes you can feel as if your in a black hole of sorts...
a pit of emptiness inside your soul, with a belief of nothing.

But something miraculous happens, a small light flickers.

It as if you are walking on a long winding road in the middle of the night, and its pitch black, so black that you cant see your hand in front of your face.

And you are scared to death,

because you can't see what's in front or what's behind.

It is in this darkness that you surrender and find a small flicker of light,
a sense of hope that a force greater than you will guide you to where you need to go.

It is when we let go.
